

MEYERHOUSE / WATTEN HOUSE

MASSONEONG is a boutique design practice based in Singapore specializing in Interior Architecture, Lifestyle, and Styling.

Founded by Elisa Massone and Vanessa Ong, the firm combines their deep expertise and passion for residential and commercial design, honed through collaborations with prestigious architectural and interior design firms in Italy and Singapore. With educational backgrounds in Engineering and Architecture from the Università degli Studi di Genova and the National University of Singapore, respectively, they create innovative, refined spaces that blend cultural influences with a contemporary sensibility.

Committed to the thoughtful exploration and mastery of their craft, MASSONEONG works across a wide range of scales and disciplines, personally managing each project from ideation to completion. By cultivating strong relationships between clients and artisans, they deliver beautiful, unique design solutions driven by a continual pursuit of refinement and excellence. In this publication, Massoneong presents two recent projects: the Meyerhouse Showsuite (pages 336 to 341) and the Watten House (pages 342 to 345).

Tasked with creating a four-bedroom showsuite in the newly completed Meyerhouse development, the studio crafted a holistic experience through the custom design and styling of furniture pieces, and the curation of artwork, artifacts, and light fittings. Enhancing a rich base palette of materials selected by Yabu Pushelberg, the firm furnished the space with bold furniture pieces, layering textured elements to create the essence of exquisite luxury. The juxtaposition of materials—sandblasted oak and high-gloss lacquered elements, velvet chenille and Calacatta Viola marble, hand-painted gilded silk wallcoverings, and patinated steel—adds visual delight and tactility to the spatial experience.

Watten House is a distinguished residential development located in Singapore's prestigious District 11. Set amidst lush greenery, the project seamlessly blends modern luxury with subtle Asian influences, creating a tranquil sanctuary in the heart of the city. Featuring an exclusive collection of apartments and penthouses, the development prioritizes privacy and elegance. Its meticulously crafted interiors feature premium finishes and state-of-the-art amenities, offering an unparalleled and elevated living experience.
